

Dean of School of Pharmacy, College of Medicine, National Taiwan University

Applications are invited for the position of Dean of School of Pharmacy (also act as the Chair of Department of Pharmacy), National Taiwan University. Qualifications of the prospective candidates include full professorship in pharmacy or pharmacy-related fields, having excellent research achievements, leadership with international perspective, and commitment in pharmacy education. Applicants must provide a statement explicitly addressing each of the criteria listed in the statement information for appointment of this position. Submitted documents should include a Curriculum Vitae that lists teaching experience and achievements, peer-reviewed and invited publications, reprints of the most important publications and recent five-year publications, letters of recommendation by three faculties of pharmacy or related fields, the name, position title, mail and e-mail address of five professional referees, as well as a written plan of his/her goal and strategies in pharmacy education and research in National Taiwan University. The application should be sent to James Chih-Hsin Yang (wccwu@ntu.edu.tw), Chair of the Search Committee, School of Pharmacy, College of Medicine, National Taiwan University, Room 211 2F No.33, Linsen S. RD. Taipei 100025, Taiwan. Phone: 886-2-33668754; Fax: 886-2-23919098.

The application documents should include one paper document sent to the above address and an electronic document sent to wccwu@ntu.edu.tw. The documents should be received by Chair of the Search Committee before 5 pm (GMT+8, local time) March 1, 2023.